

Fuerst Day Lawson New Product Development Manager

Fuerst Day Lawson is a leading global supplier of seed, pulse and cereal products to the food manufacturing industry. As part of our continued expansion, we are looking for an innovative, forward thinking New Product Development Manager to be based out of both our London and Essex locations.

Responsible for the management of customer and brand development projects, with particular but not exclusive focus on the bakery sector. You will be responsible for NPD from initial concept to approved products for launch, and will be qualified within a food-related subject with relevant experience within the food industry. It's a highly hands-on role, requiring a high degree of attention to detail and great communication skills both to our customers and internally.

For further information please contact Nikki Divers or Frank Horan on 020 7488 0777.

Please forward your CV with covering letter to Nikki Divers, Commercial Director, Fuerst Day Lawson Limited, Devon House, 58-60 St Katherine's Way, London E1W 1JP.

All replies to be received by 15th February.
